

DEATH TOLL IS MOUNTING AS STORM ABATES

PWA PROJECTS THROUGH STATE ARE CURTAILED

More Than 7-Million Dollars Worth of Jobs Cast Aside

LIGHTER WORK PLANS FAVORED

Schools and Public Buildings Suffer Heavily In New Move

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Millions of dollars worth of Ohio public works projects are being cast aside in favor of lighter works projects.

So far, Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, has turned down $7,171,893 in allotments to Ohio originally approved by the PWA and later turned over to his division.

Against this, Ohio works progress allotments to date have amounted to $21,030,598, with local sponsors scheduled to contribute another $7,188,563.

In practically all cases, the PWA projects rejected have been shelved because the PWA considered too large a share of the grants, or loans and grants, would be spent for materials rather than labor.

They can be revised and resubmitted, providing this is done speedily to meet the September 12 deadline set by President Roosevelt to speed the huge $4,000,000,000 works relief program and take those who can be employed off the dole.

An Ohio supreme court ruling, however, has required that special elections be held to approve bond issues offered as security for PWA loans and grants. To date, officials have shown no inclination to extend the time, although admitting the difficulties existed in Ohio and other states.

The troubles for PWA projects have been caused by the desire of PWA officials to spread allotments as far as possible, with the emphasis on the number of jobs to be provided, not on projects.

The future expenditure per man per year has been cut to $900 on PWA projects turned over to the state instead of the $1140 previously set. The necessity for providing as many jobs as possible and previous allotments than ran over the $1140 limit reduced the cost per man per year.

Schools Suffer

The list of PWA projects that have been rejected by PWA covers the state, with schools and public buildings the heaviest sufferers. More than 50 of these projects have been lost and the number is growing.

Altogether, more than 2,000 PWA projects have been scuttled by Hopkins as the brunt of the works relief program was shifted to PWA. In addition to eight projects at Cincinnati amounting to $2,425,073, two county sewer and water supply lines amounting to $128,453 and an Akron street resurfacing program involving $97,800, these applications for PWA loans or grants have been rejected by PWA.

High Human Toll Is Feared Following Florida Hurricane

A death toll estimated by some as high as 1,000 is feared as a result of the hurricane which swept up the Florida coast from Key West toward Tampa, following the course of the arrow outlined on the map, above. Scenes of terror and desolation confronted rescue parties as they strove to reach the isolated communities.

TOWNSHIP ROAD JOBS SUBMITTED

Elkrun and Madison Lat- est To File With WPA Office

LISBON, Sept. 5.—Trustees of Elkrun and Madison townships have submitted road projects to William J. Ovington, works division manager for Columbiana county, approximately 3 miles of new highway improvement.

Madison township trustees have prepared a map showing the location of 35 miles of road, while a similar map has been filed with the WPA by Elkrun township trustees, showing the location of 20 miles of road in need of improvement.

In all instances, roads proposed to be improved past present main highway arteries at some point.

County commissioners have also urged the WPA to rebuild the present old one-way iron bridge spanning Little Yellow creek at Wellsville, which has been declared to be unsafe for traffic.

During the last few weeks, trustees of other townships have filed road improvement proposals with the WPA offices here, it being estimated the entire township road program amounts to more than 250 miles.

It has been estimated here unofficially, that so far nearly $1,000,000 in projects have been submitted to the local WPA offices, and while the quota for the county has been placed officially at over $1,800,000, fewer than 25 projects so far submitted have been approved for immediate action.

Scioto River Rises Near Flood Stage

Ohioans watched the rivers in the central and southern sections of the state anxiously today as streams ominously in several counties and flood warnings were prepared for the lower Scioto valley.

The Scioto river rose to within 2 1/2 feet of flood stage at Chillicothe yesterday. Flood stage is 16 feet. The Hocking river rose to 18.05, more than a foot above flood stage.

A rainfall of more than 4 inches in 26 hours cut off all but two highways leading from Athens. The basements of about 100 homes in the city were filled with water and at Mineral, Athens county, twenty-three families were forced out of their homes by the muddy waters.

The Columbus weather bureau reported an August rainfall of 6.61 inches, the heaviest record there in any month since 1915.

Business Bureau Plans Lunch Friday

A luncheon meeting of the Salem Business Bureau will be held at noon Friday at the Lape hotel dining room.

Several matters of importance will be discussed during the luncheon hour.

Constable Dies and Two Others Hurt As Auto Strikes Train

WARREN, Sept. 5.—John Gamuf, 29, constable of Copley, O., was killed and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Averill, also of Copley, were seriously injured late last night when their automobile struck a Pennsylvania railroad freight train nine miles south of here.

Mrs. Averill, 30, received a fractured skull. Her husband, driver of the car, received a possible skull fracture.

The crossing at which the accident occurred was unguarded, police said. The automobile struck near the middle of the freight train and knocked one car off the tracks.

Inspection Held By Perry Grange; Program Is Given

Inspection by County Deputy H. E. Williams of Lisbon and a five-minute talk by S. N. Van Blaricom on "Prophecy on Rural Life 10 Years From Now" headed the program at the meeting of Perry Grange at the hall last night.

Plans were announced at the meeting for the yearly Booster night to be held on Sept. 28. The booster session is a special program suggested by the state master. The decorating committee for the event, named last night, is made up of Glenn Bates, Mrs. F. E. Bates, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Newhouse while the display committee consists of Samuel Hilliard, Mrs. O. E. Bush, Mrs. George Bates and Oliver Duke.

Three discussions were given at the meeting on true-false statements. Oliver Duke discussed, "Most people prefer to let others do the thinking"; Samuel Hilliard, "As the country grows older it is inevitable that we will have a better agriculture"; and George Hawkins, "Hard work, thrift, and individual effort will bring success to the young farmer today."

Additional features on the program were two vocal duets by Robert Wilde and Veryl Grossinger entitled, "The Waltz You Saved For Me" and "Wait Until the Sun Shines, Nellie"; a playlet, "A Proposal," by Lucyle Hilliard and Garetta Lentz; a stunt by Mrs. O. E. Bush.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 18 when Willow Grove Grange will present the program. The young people will meet at 6 p. m. Friday at the hall.

At the meeting last night there were eight new candidates for membership. Among the guests was Mr. H. E. Williams, county juvenile officer.

The prisoner was convicted in common pleas court here Nov. 27 last, and the case will go before the Parole board on or after Oct. 1.

CAMP IS PITCHED ON WRONG SITE

CCC Group May Be Re- located On County Home Tract

LISBON, Sept. 5.—Because of error, the present location of the Columbiana County CCC camp will very likely be relocated on a 10-acre site originally leased by the county commissioners to the federal government, and removed from its present temporary location "back" of the Columbiana County Public Health camp site.

When it was proposed to establish a CCC camp in this county, representatives of the federal government consulted the county commissioners, and it was agreed to lease a part of the county home farm, consisting of 10 acres, the location being west of the county administration buildings and near the intersection of the Lisbon-Guilford and "Old State" roads.

This tract at the time was in wheat. The land "back" of the health camp site was in wheat also.

When the word came back to this county to clear the 10-acre camp site, wheat back of the health camp site was harvested.

Then a contract was awarded by federal officials for the drilling of a well, and this was put down to a depth of 280 feet and now flowing at the rate of 30-gallon per minute.

Came the caravan of CCC recruits and tents were erected. Then it was found the well was too far away from the location of the tents.

Federal officials are expected here within a week to relocate the camp on the site under original contract. Permanent camp buildings will likely be erected on the original lease.

Drilling of another well may be authorized. The technical staff of the soil conservation division is expected here this week to contact farm owners for projects.

Willaman Estate Valued at $29,000

Sam Willaman, Western Reserve university football coach who died Aug. 18 at the age of 45, left an estate estimated at $29,000, it was learned yesterday in probate court in Cuyahoga county.

The estimate was given on an application filed by Mr. Willaman's widow, Mrs. Rieta Willaman, to be appointed administratrix. Personal property was valued at $25,000 and a part ownership in a parcel of real estate at $4,000.

Mr. Willaman had been coach at Reserve for a little over a year. For the five preceding years or had been head coach at Ohio State university. His widow lives at 3041 Euclid Heights boulevard, Cleveland Heights.

Portsmouth Plant Hears Labor Charge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The new labor relations board had before it today complaints against two General Motors subsidiaries and the Wheeling Steel corporation's Portsmouth, O., plant, that may provide court tests of the Wagner labor disputes act.

Charlton Ogburn, counsel for the American Federation of Labor, filed the complaints yesterday for the United Automobile workers and the Amalgamated association of iron, steel and tin workers.

The unions charged the companies violated the act's fair labor practice provisions, Ogburn said, including refusal to recognize them as representative of all employees for collective organizations.

The United Automobile workers' complaint was directed against plants of the Chevrolet Motor company and the Fisher Bodies corporation at Atlanta, Ga.

The return of Rev. H. J. Thompson to the First Methodist church for another year and the return of Dr. C. D. Marston, of Steubenville, as district superintendent, was asked in a petition drafted at the last quarterly meeting of the conference held in the church Wednesday night.

The conference vote of the pastoral committee was unanimous.

Rev. Thompson came to the local church from East Palestine a year ago when Rev. Sidney Mayer was transferred to Willoughby. The action was taken last night in view of the forthcoming annual conference at Lakeside next week when changes and assignments will be made.

Approximately 50 officials of the church and their families were present at last night's meeting in the church parlors. A dinner was served at 6. Singing was led by Charles Cornwall, accompanied by Homer Taylor, pianist.

Dr. Marston presided over the meeting and heard reports from various groups and department, all of which showed substantial gains.

Miss Knight, Swim Champ, Married To Athletic Teacher

(By Associated Press)
WELLSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 5.—A bride—Lenore Knight of aquatic fame—accompanied Cleon J. Wingard, athletic instructor, to his new job in Cincinnati, O., today.

Their engagement was announced several weeks ago. At that time, however, Miss Knight asserted the wedding would be delayed until after she competed in the 1936 Olympic water events.

Mrs. Wingard is one of the greatest girl swimmers this country has produced. She smashed three national women's swimming marks in July.

Miss Knight was born in Frostburg, Md., 22 years ago. Her family moved to Homestead, near Pittsburgh, when she was five.

Jack Scarry, coach at the Homestead Library club, established her in a relay team with Anna Mae Morman, her sister, Johanna Gorman, and Louise Clark.

This team finished fourth in the women's relay at Jones' beach in 1929 and then won the event for five straight years.

Wingard is a University of Pittsburgh graduate. He and Miss Knight have been acquainted for several years. Wingard was appointed a physical education instructor in the Cincinnati schools, several weeks ago.

Wellsburg is a favorite destination for cloners from Western Pennsylvania. Miss Charlotte Caldwell, license clerk, said last night she issued a license in her home, after Miss Knight and Wingard interrupted her dinner, and they were married soon afterwards by the Rev. Frank Billingsley.

Miss Knight's mother in Homestead refused comment, a brother, John, and Anna Mae Gorman, a close friend of the bride, admitted they knew Miss Knight and Wingard planned to elope.

RELIEF OFFICIALS ESTIMATE FIGURES WILL REACH 1,000

Count from Area Is Varied As Result of Inability to Establish Communication With Stricken Points

51 BODIES IN MORGUE AT MIAMI

"Words Cannot Describe Horrible Disaster", Governor's Aid Telegraphs From Center of Tragedy Area

(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—Relief officials estimated today that the tropical hurricane, sweeping terror and destruction across the Florida keys, left in its path a death toll of from 200 to 500 and it "may reach 1,000."

W. P. Mooty advised his chief, Governor Davey Sholtz, from the center of the storm area that fatalities "may reach 1,000." Other sources have placed the number at from 200 to 500, but the exact figure probably will not be known until communication has been re-established with many marooned points.

"Words cannot describe the horrible disaster," Mooty said in a telegram to the governor. "Everyone as far south as Carabae colony has been moved out. Injured first. Now moving dead, fifty so far. Rebuilding bridges to cross Snake creek."

Snake creek cuts off the Matecumbe keys, where the death toll is expected to have been heaviest.

Gov. Sholtz left by automobile to tour the devastated area.

The hurricane, dwindling in its destructive powers, soared north through Georgia as Florida rescue corps quickly moved into the stricken regions where they were met by scenes of horror and desolation.

Fifty-one bodies, few identified, lay in a morgue here, as the difficult mission of bringing aid to the injured and marooned victims was speeded to the coastal regions where the storm was most severe.

Countless, injured were reported strewn through the keys, battered and torn through almost four days of swirling winds and rains.

Calls for Investigation
Congressman J. Hardin Peterson at Lakeland telegraphed Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hop-

Safe In Storm

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Floding of South Lincoln ave., received word late last night from their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Meadows, and three-month-old baby, of Clearwater, Fla., that none of the family was injured in the Florida hurricane.

However, Mrs. Meadows, the former Mary Ellen Floding, reported that the orange grove at their home was destroyed.

kins for an investigation into reported deaths among war veterans in FERA work camps on upper and lower Matecumbe keys.

A similar request went to President Roosevelt last night from the Miami chamber of commerce and the coral ambles post of the Coral Gables post of the American Legion.

"I want to find out why they didn't evacuate those islands," Peterson said. "They had plenty of notice and I want to fix the responsibility. I will follow the matter vigorously."

The storm curled into Georgia with drenching rains and stiff winds, but damage in towns was mostly limited to fallen trees and signs. Extensive damage to peanut and pecan crops was reported in some localities.

Weather bureaus at Thomasville and Quitman reported wind velocity at between 35 and 45 miles an hour. The storm was expected to veer toward Macon and then whirl across Savannah, the Carolinas and out to sea.

Despite torn up railroads and washed away bridges, Red Cross and coast guard workers hurried their relief task on the stricken Florida keys. "The next problem is to find and remove the bodies," Coast Guard Commander H. C. Perkins said.

Health officials said the work of caring for survivors of the hurricane on the upper and lower Matecumbe keys was "pretty well in hand."

The bodies in the morgue here were of men, except for those of one woman and two small girls. As the seas moderated around French reef, transfers of all passenger from the stranded liner

WHO OWNS THE DOG?

The international altercation between the United States and Russia is different only in degree from one of the commonest of neighborhood disputes—responsibility for a bothersome dog.

The irritant in this case is the Communist International, devoted to the task of converting capitalist societies to communist societies. Its headquarters are in Russia. Its officials regard the Soviet union as their own. The Soviet union, in turn, regards them as its own.

In pledging to abstain from interference with the United States, Soviet Russia seemed to admit its connection with the Communist International, which is the means of carrying on subversive activities against capitalist governments. Naturally, therefore, the United States feels the pledge has been broken when it discovers evidence of connection between communist endeavors in this country and the Communist International. Friendly diplomatic relations hang in the balance.

Who is responsible for the dog? Russia seems reluctant to accept responsibility, despite the plain fact the Communist International and the government of Soviet Russia are undeniably in association. It is interesting, incidentally, to remember that Germany, angered by the activities of communists, never has tried to split hairs over the difference between the Soviet and the Communist International. Germany does not make any distinction. Neither do France, Great Britain, Italy or any of Russia's closer neighbors.

The United States, by refusing to see the distinction which Russia would like to have recognized, is doing only what other governments which are dealing with communism close at hand have been doing for years. Russia and the Communist International have too much in common to deny their connection with each other.

APPROVED

The import of Labor day oratory by organized labor's spokesmen was that President Roosevelt is entitled to support for reelection on the basis of his record. Organized labor's leaders are not satisfied; there is much to be done before they can rest in satisfaction. But they are willing to approve, with the inevitable reservations, the man who will stand for reelection in 1936.

Thus is organized labor coming into the political power which is the unavoidable by-product of the compactness it is seeking. The approval of a labor leader does not make the approval of his followers a certainty. Yet, because the leader says only that which he believes can be said safely, such Labor day statements as were made by William Green and Frank Morrison, president and secretary, respectively, of the American Federation of Labor, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, all of whom endorsed President Roosevelt, are full of meaning for political forecasters. Organized labor opened its part of the next presidential campaign last Monday.

THE SAME OLD JOKE

When the new school year gets under way and schoolteachers have time to breathe again they're going to resent the dictum of that Rockford, Ill., school superintendent who says the day of the battle ax in his school system is over. The teachers have a right to be angry.

It isn't their fault if some of them get to look like battle axes, and what does their appearance have to do with their teaching ability anyway? The best teachers aren't always the best looking ones, nor the most popular ones either, if that's what the superintendent is driving at.

Besides, battle axes aren't born, but made by circumstances. And one of the circumstances has been the assumed right of superintendents, school boards, mothers, fathers and even the children in years past to dictate how school teachers should look, act and think. If some of them, in desperation, tried to escape attention by letting themselves become seedy, that's the fault of their position.

Probably, schoolteachers can think of a lot more things to say on the subject, but that's a rough idea of what the temerarious schoolmaster of Rockford has let himself in for until the storm blows over.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, September 6

Many conflicting signs are found among the planetary configurations bearing rule on the affairs of this day. While there are auguries of enterprise and initiative, with promise of ultimate success through the aid of important personages, yet there are also portents of intrigue, duplicity and opposition. Secrecy seems to dominate both business and private activities, the latter especially beset by subterfuge and calling for complete wariness and discretion. Be careful with letters.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of conflicting, contradictory and intriguing conditions, with open as well as subtle opposition. There is need for much wariness and discretion, especially in the private affiliations, and it would be well to be cautious in writings, as an element of surprise overshadows. Safeguard employment and make changes with due consideration.

A child born on this day may be active, talented, but inclined to the pursuit of pleasure rather than the more sordid things of life.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—New York's recent close-up of Mickey Mouse's creator, Walt Disney, was not disillusioning. A celebrity-calculated city frankly liked him. He was a producer who had produced the most popular actor in the world and yet thinks there is room for improvement.

He believes Mickey talks too much, but many of us will not agree. We like that bravado squeak. Disney denied any sudden flash of genius in creating Mickey. He had first created Oswald the Rabbit but lost him through some clever business see-saw.

Thus Mickey rose out of the ashes of defeat. This was the sort of unforgotten modesty Disney maintained when besieged by the press on a return from a European jaunt. It resulted in the unusual spectacle of reporters actually joining the general clamor for his autograph.

Disney is tall, thin and features a midget mustache. He is an alumnus of that great school of newspaper notables, the Kansas City Star. The usual artistic lack of commercial sagacity has shorn Disney of huge Mickey profits. His biggest income comes from Mickey toys, hats and books.

Edward Hungerford, the magazine writer, recently sailed to Europe alone and the dining room steward became solicitous about his solitude. After the second day he inquired if Hungerford did not want to meet some of the notable passengers or perhaps have one billeted to his table. He scanned the passenger list and said there was one he would like to meet. This was a famous chef. Hungerford being somewhat of a gourmet thought the chef might help him order more expertly and perhaps give some tips on food. For several meals they ate together. There was pleasant general conversation, but all the chef ordered was eggs. The explanation: He hated food.

John Chapman, prowling through an old safe in the Globe Theater offices of Charles B. Dillingham, salvaged some fascinating memoranda of the Rialto's yesterday. Sparks from a dead anvil. Such as a weekly pay check to Will Rogers for $5,625.25. A movie option on "Ben Hur" for $600,000. A contract with Fred Stone for $3,500 a week, plus 10 per cent of the gross over $15,000. A contract with Dave Montgomery for $1,200 a week. One with W. C. Fields for $400. Another with Vernon Castle to dance for $250 a week and one with Irene for $100.

The Tavern on the Green, the al fresco cafe in Central Park, after a bad start got into its stride and on fair days and nights is packed. Tea time is especially colorful with the gaily umbrellae tables, the bridge path riders cantering by and the steady hum of motors. The new zoo, too, is crowded and the dancing nights under the stars along the Mall bring out thousands of young fellows and their girls who had no place to go. Central Park, if they can stifle the roaring thugery, may become what it has never been—a real park. Like Hyde and the Bots.

I have been perusing New York's first directory published in 1786. It was much like an almanac in assorted chit-chat. One page was devoted to fashions of the day. Such as "It is the current fashion for ladies to drink porter in the afternoon—tea is quite out of date among genteel people." And there's a smile in the page ad of The Connor Ladies Hair Dressing Parlor from London, near Maiden Lane. Says the ad: "My balsamic lip salve of roses, keeps the lips from chapping and gives them a beautiful coral red, renders them smooth and soft and leaves a delightful odor after kisses. My ointment for destroying nits and vermin has been used by the best ladies with perfect safety to their hair."

And I care enormously for a word, worthy of a Gallet Burgess, that comes in a hunger-evoking note from the Jean Bordeaux family in Los Angeles: "Have you tried peppermint ice cream with a luscious slurrp of hot fudge over it?" There's a word—slurrp! And E. C. Nance in his alliterative brochure, "From Dust to Divinity," further alliterates: "Man travels from dirt to diety—from sod to God."

If it's old, shoot Charles Hanson Towne. Anyway he tells of the New York novelist with a radio assignment. Asked a friend: "Have you a coast to coast hookup?" He replied: "Oh, no. Just river to river."

Effects Health

There is great interest in balloon ascents into the "stratosphere." We hear a lot about that, but how many of us know anything about the normal atmosphere? Yet the atmosphere plays an important part in the maintenance of good health. Sudden changes lead to startling disturbances in the human mechanism.

The normal atmospheric pressure is said to exert a pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch. A human being of average size is subjected to a total pressure of 34,000 pounds. This really seems terrific, but, of course, it is equalized by a pressure from within the body.

Sudden alterations in the pressure lead to physical changes. Under the accustomed pressure the tissues and organs of the body function properly. It has an important part in the breathing and the circulation of the blood. Without this pressure we would fall apart.

The average man suffers from weakness, headache and sickness at the stomach as soon as he reaches a high altitude, when up in a plane or when climbing mountains. Unaccustomed exposure to the effects of high altitudes leads to difficult breathing and coldness of the extremities. The sight, hearing and other bodily functions may be seriously affected. These symptoms are due to a lowering of the usual atmospheric pressure.

On occasions I have told you about "Caisson disease." This is a peculiar affliction of those engaged in underground or underwater work, such as constructing tunnels. These men are subjected to an increase of atmospheric pressure with serious consequences. Unless certain precautions are taken, a fatal form of the disease may be produced.

Reaction Often Acute

Some persons are much more able than others to withstand the evil effects of atmospheric changes. This is an essential requirement of the aviator, who must tolerate high altitudes without ill effect. Persons who are susceptible to atmospheric changes could not be expected to make efficient airplane pilots, a profession in which fainting or weakness would indeed be disastrous.

I am often asked whether changes in altitude are of value in the treatment of certain disorders. Some chronic ailments like asthma and hay fever are better controlled in a high and dry altitude. Other disturbances do better at sea level. The attending physician will take into consideration such factors as age, physical health and the nature of the disorder. Then he can advise regarding change of climate and altitude.

Answers to Health Queries
M. T. Q.—What can be done for a gall bladder disturbance. Does this condition always necessitate an operation?

A—Careful attention to the diet will sometimes bring about results, depending upon the extent and seriousness of the condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

DEATH TOLL IN STORM MOUNTS

Relief Officials Estimate
Count May Reach
1,000

Dixie to rescue boats was completed, according to tropical radio.

So devastating was the storm that today, more than 60 hours after it struck, no definite estimate of the dead, missing, and injured could be made.

Estimates Vary

Dr. Leonard K. Thompson, Red Cross relief chairman in the key hurricane area, reported to Washington that he believed the toll of dead would be less than 200.

Dr. Joe Stewart, who made an aerial survey of the stricken placed the total as not in excess of 300.

Captain P. T. Brankin, master of the Yacht Byronic, which made a rescue voyage to the keys, declared the number of dead would be at least 500. He was supported by that estimate by Captain J. Pugh, who served with him on the yacht, and other members of the crew.

W. P. Mooty, personal representative of the governor, estimated the fatalities "may reach 1,000."

Jack Combs, a Miami undertaker who led a rescue expedition, said the dead would number between 400 and 500.

All apparently based their estimates on bodies seen by them strewn about, hung in trees, or half buried under wreckage. In addition, they had the horrible word pictures from survivors who told of seeing many swept to sea on the tidal wave.

Accurate determination of the dead in the three veterans' camps will depend on an accounting of the 67 men on the rosters. Many of them were reported to have been on leaves of absence when the storm struck.

Rescue Work Hampered

Washed out bridges hampered rescue workers on the Upper and Lower Matecumbe keys, where most of the veterans were camped, and held them back from lower keys, leaving the fate of the few residents in the latter in doubt.

Only a dozen veterans were found alive in Camp No. 5, where 185 were on the roster. Of 243 enrolled at Camp No. 3, 23 were reported on furlough and 123 were accounted for. The fate of the remaining 87 was not known.

A private yacht bought 52 of the injured veterans to Miami for hospitalization. Among them was Top Sergeant P. Pugh, of Camp 3. He and 70 others clung to a water tank car all through the night Monday.

"Men who have known all the rough edges of life," said Sergeant Pugh, "who hadn't thought of God in years, prayed that night. I heard them muttering prayers as they held to the car and tracks, with debris pelting their bodies."

Theater Attractions

From chorister in the tiny village of Jellico, Tenn., to the world's premier lyric soprano is the trail that Grace Moore, who comes to the State theater Friday and Saturday in "Love Me Forever," with Leo Carrillo, has traversed.

The girl who sang and smiled her way into the hearts of literally millions of movie fans in "One Night of Love" again hands out real opera and makes them like it in her newest picture, which, like "One Night of Love," was directed by Victor Seltzer. Leo Carrillo, scion of one of the oldest families in America, is seen in the role of Stephano Corelli, music loving Italian gambler and cafe owner who falls in love with Grace Moore, portraying lovely Margaret Howard, a suddenly poor debutante, after hearing her sing.

He offers her the opportunity to sing in his cafe and when cafe patrons fail to appreciate the beauty of her voice he stakes everything he has to bring her to the top in her profession. Through his aid she eventually lands on the Metropolitan opera stage where she is an immediate success. Before her debut, however, Corelli threatens Philip Cameron, played by good-looking Robert Allen, for paying attention to Margaret, but when Cameron convinces him that there is a vast difference in a debutante and a gambler, risen from the gutter, he disappears brokenhearted.

Corelli returns, however, for Margaret's Metropolitan debut, after signing a worthless check for $15,000 gambling debts. The gambler intends to shoot him at the opera house because he is penniless and unable to pay for anything left alone such a debt. Margaret tells him that she loves him and makes him promise to stay away from the theater, but because he believes the gesture is one of gratitude, Corelli goes to the theater, hiding backstage. He meets the gambler but learns that Margaret has paid off the debt and that she really loves him. Leo Carrillo is splendid in a difficult role and Grace Moore is her usual gorgeous self.

Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell are seen at the State today only in "We're In the Money" with Hugh Herbert and Ross Alexander.

The Grand theater reopens Friday night for the fall and winter season on a four-day a week program. The theater will be open every Friday and Saturday, Sunday and Monday throughout the winter, with matinees on Saturday and Sunday only. Evening shows will continue all four days.

The first feature billed for the new season at the Grand is, "Hop-a-long Cassidy," starring William Boyd as Bill Cassidy. Paula Stone plays the role of Mary Meeker, daughter of a newcomer to ranching and the west in the time when it was known as the Old West and the gangs were unfenced with the law in the hands of the mightiest.

Clarence E. Mulford, acclaimed one of the foremost western authors of today, is the creator of Hop-a-long Cassidy, favorite cowboy character. With Boyd in the title role in the Paramount release is a newcomer to the films, James Ellison, who is seen in the role of a happy-go-lucky cowboy who aids in the capture of a gang of cattle rustlers.

Finds 3 Burglars In Store; Kills Them

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 5.—Lewis Highland, 27-year-old operator of a general store at Franklin Furnace, 15 miles east of here, killed his third burglar today, an unidentified Negro he found looting the store.

Highland, awakened by a burglar alarm at his home near the establishment, said he grabbed a shotgun and waited for the intruder to come out.

He told Sheriff Arthur Oakes that he ordered the man to throw up his hands, and threw rays of a flashlight on him.

Noticing a shining object in the Negro's hand, Highland fired.

Shun Federal Aid At Urbana for Project

URBANA, Sept. 5.—Expressing impatience at delay in obtaining PWA approval of a $33,000 building improvement project, the Jackson township school district board of education announced today it will ask residents of the district to approve a bond issue at the November election.

They said they would proceed without federal aid if public works administration approval is not forthcoming. The district last March voted approval of a $14,000 bond issue to meet the district share of the project. The rest was to have been a grant of federal funds.

Judge Tastes Candy, Case Is Dismissed

DENVER, Sept. 5.—Dr. George Glen was charged with driving while intoxicated after Patrolman Thomas McHugh testified the man had a strong odor of liquor on his breath when arrested.

"The odor wasn't liquor, it was rum taffy candy," insisted the defendant. He tossed a piece of it to Judge Ellett N. Shepherd. "Try it," he advised. The judge did.

"Judge, you smell like you'd had four or five good smorts," said Assistant City Attorney Joseph Lilly. "Case dismissed," ruled Judge Shepherd.

Longer Hours Provided For Liquor Dispensers In Ohio Starting Today

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 5.—New regulations provided longer hours today for liquor sellers in many Ohio communities.

With the proper permit, liquor dispensers may remain open until 2:30 a. m. daily and Sunday if they are not governed by a local closing ordinance.

The new regulations come under provisions of the amended liquor act, which went into effect last midnight.

Night club permits are eliminated and hotels, restaurants and similar establishments must obtain a new $400 permit to remain open after midnight. Night clubs had been permitted to remain open until 2:30 a. m. daily and other establishments until 1 a. m. All closed Saturday midnight.

Sponsors of the move to increase the hours contended before the last session of the legislature, which amended the act, that this would provide another club against the bootlegger.

The new act also gives liquor enforcement agents a wider range and Alfred Humphrey, chief of the division, predicted it would act as a strong arm against chiselers and bootleggers.

Establishment by the state tax department of a retaliatory liquor tax, under terms of the new act, presented a problem.

Such a tax would be placed on beer imports from other states which tax Ohio products, Indiana and Pennsylvania now collect such levies.

Ohio brewers urged the commission to impose the tax immediately. Distributors contended, however, no action should be taken until November, when they said Indiana is expected to change its statute.

Penalties are provided under the new regulations for anyone selling false receipts for whiskey in bonded storage and the sale of receipts is put under control of the liquor department. For some time department officials had been troubled by an illicit traffic in such receipts.

Permit revocation powers are transferred from the liquor director to the liquor board, the alcoholic content of wine is increased from 17 to 21 per cent, anyone convicted of a felony is prohibited from obtaining a liquor license.

FANS HOWL AS MULLINS WHIP TRADES CLASS

"Schoolmen" Lose 12-9; Decision Questioned By Fans

Protests and complaints of a decision in the sixth inning by Umpire Ray Reasbeck came from all sides last night following the Trades Class 12-9 defeat at the hands of Mullins in the first game of the second flight of the Class A round robin tournament at Centennial park.

Calls Scullion Safe

The objections rising from the sixth inning decision of umpire Reasbeck were based on C. Scullion being called safe at second on an out. Had Scullion been called out Mullins would have been retired for that inning. However, when Debnar, the next batter, came to the plate he dropped a home run in left field that scored three of his teammates. Members of the Trades Class team voiced the opinion that the unfavorable decision cost the "schoolmen" the game.

Both teams opened their scoring in the first inning by collecting two runs. Mullins went blank in the second and third frames while the Trades Class scored three runs in the third when Smith, pitcher for Mullins, walked one man in, another scored on an error by Kennedy and McCloskey secured a home run on C. Scullion's error.

Mullins scored two runs in the fourth while the Trades Class brought in one in the same inning. Both teams went scoreless in the fifth inning and then came the riotous sixth when the Foremen scored four runs.

Trades Try Rally

In the succeeding innings Mullins scored four more runs while the Trades Class, displaying a desperate rally in an endeavor to get back on top of the scoring again, could only find three more tallies.

The Trades Class outlived the "shopmen" as they collected 13 hits from the offerings of the Mullins pitcher, Smith, while the "shopmen" were held to 8 hits by Bill Miller, Trades twirler.

Batting honors went to Coe of the Trades who had three hits out of four trips to the plate, although G. Scullion, of Mullins, and Youtz and Bill Coe of the Trades wielded the bat above average.

The winner of tonight's game between the Hardware and United Cigars will tangle with Mullins on Friday night for the round robin tournament championship.

Second Position Scene of Battle

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Minneapolis was closer to its pennant goal in the American Association today but the race for the runner-up money was as furious as ever, with Indianapolis holding a good edge over Kansas City and Columbus.

The Millers won both games of their doubleheader against Milwaukee yesterday, 3 to 2 and 9 to 6 to hold their 4½ game advantage over Indianapolis with 15 games left. The Indians also won two to retain their outside chance of winning, topping Columbus to fourth place with 13 to 3 and 10 to 1. The victories gave the Indians a two-game lead of Kansas City, which replaced Columbus in third position by defeating St. Paul, 5 to 4, and 6 to 5.

Columbus' setbacks dropped the Red Birds 1½ games behind Kansas City, eight full games to the rear of Minneapolis.

Louisville won a pair in easy fashion from Toledo, 5 to 1, and 11 to 5.

WARREN ENTRY INJURED IN RACE

Swims Five Miles With Fractured Rib As Canadian Wins

TORONTO, Sept. 5.—Charlotte Acres of Vancouver won the Canadian exhibition five-mile swim for women late yesterday after a grueling test of two hours, thirty-one minutes and 15 seconds.

Miss Acres led her closest competitor, Eva Bein, of New York by 50 yards at the finish to win the $1,000 purse.

May Looney, of Warren, O., winner of the 1934 contest, made a courageous fight for the honor, swimming the entire distance of five miles with a fractured rib. She came in fifth.

Kicked At Start

Miss Looney was kicked by another swimmer as the 15 starters plunged into the water. She was taken from the water to a hospital immediately after the race and treated for the fractured rib. Miss Looney had been a favorite to repeat her 1934 victory.

Miss Acres trailed in second place for four and one-half miles, but came to the front with the finish line in sight. She is the first Canadian to win the event.

Miss Bein, who finished second, had been trailing the winner and Miss Nell Hurley of Memphis, Tenn., for most of the race, but forged ahead when Miss Acres made her determined fight in the final half mile and finished ahead of Miss Hurley.

Miss Hurley, third place winner was 90 yards ahead of Miss Acres at the three-mile post, but gradually dropped back. Miss Hurley won $250, Miss Bein $500, Janet Sheather of Toronto finished fourth.

Just ahead of Miss Looney, Evelyn Armstrong of Detroit, was sixth.

QUAKER SQUAD HOLDS SECOND DRILL IN RAIN

Yeager and Brantsch Display Ability In Afternoon

Potential stars began to shine at Reilly field yesterday as the Salem High school football squad went through its second day's work-out of blocking, tackling, passing, and running of plays.

The morning practice was somewhat hampered by the presence of rain and Coach Smith called his boys to the dressing room for a brief lecture while Jupiter Pluvius unleashed his heaviest torrents.

Returns to Field

Regardless of an occasional down-pour, the players returned to the field after the lecture and were divided into two squads, one under the direction of Coach Smith and the other under Assistant Coach Brown.

Blocking and tackling practice occupied the remainder of the morning practice. Smith, a strong believer in good blockers, intends to devote much of the time during morning practices to that phase of the game.

Yeager Impressive

Spectators who witnessed the afternoon practice were impressed with the ball-carrying ability of Charles Yeager, 135 pound junior.

Yeager, a hurdler on the Quaker track team pivoted and sidestepped his way through the opposing squad practically every time he carried the ball during the running of plays.

Another player who attracted considerable attention during the practice was Fred Brantsch, Brantsch, a giant fullback candidate, served notice that he intends to make his name known in gridiron circles this year as a line-plunger.

Many of the spectators yesterday were disappointed at not being able to see Frank Julian, 260 pound tackle, in action. Both Julian and Harry Moffett, who are expected to occupy prominent places on the varsity squad this year, work in the afternoon.

BASEBALL LOOP TO BE SEMI-PRO

Ohio State League Will Have Eight Teams Next Year

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Harry Smith, president of the Ohio State baseball league, said today that the circuit, which operated this year as a six-club semi-pro organization, would graduate into a full-fledged eight-team professional group for the 1936 campaign.

Seven teams, the loop prexy disclosed, have posted their "territorial rights" money for next year, assuring them of consideration for berths in the league. Three other cities have made application for membership.

Accept Franchise

Fosteria, Mansfield, Tiffin, New Philadelphia, Canton, Coshocton, and Alliance have deposited their forfeit money, while Fremont, Elyria and Findlay are willing to accept a franchise, Smith said.

The five-game playoff for this year's championship will get under way Sunday at Mansfield, with the Tigers of that city meeting the Mud Hens of Tiffin. Mansfield won the second half of the split season by taking 21 of its 25 games. Tiffin finished second.

New Philadelphia was third, the Cleveland Traveling club fourth, Canton fifth and Alliance last.

The first half of the campaign was won by the Canton club, but that team arranged a city series with another Canton nine and was ruled out of the play-off. Tiffin, which finished second in each pennant drive, was moved into the spot vacated by Canton, and will

GALAN PROVES WORTH AS CUBS DRIVE FOR FLAG

Former Infielder, Now Outfielder, Plays In Leading Role

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the season's best bits of managerial master-minding apparently was Charley Grimm's conversion of Augie Galan from an irregular infielder with the Cubs to a regular toiler in the outer pastures.

That shift came when the Cubs were in the doldrums. Shortly afterward they began to move toward the top with Galan in a leading role in the drive that made them contenders for the flag. It didn't take Augie long to develop into a good outfielder and he has been hitting at a 300 or better clip.

Drives In Six Runs

Galan proved his worth yesterday when the Cubs rolled over the Phillies 8 to 2 to keep their place 2½ games behind the League-leading Cardinals and a half game back of the second-place Giants.

Galan drove in six runs, drawing a walk with the bases loaded in the fourth and clouting two home runs. His second homer came with the bases loaded in the eighth and broke up the ball game.

The Cards maintained their lead by staging a four-run rally in the eighth to beat the cellar-dwelling Braves 6 to 3. A close game which Wally Berger put Boston ahead in the first half of the eighth with his 30th homer of the season, suddenly fell apart when Frank Frisch started the eighth with a single off Ed Brandt, Jim Collins doubled him home and Den Cantwell, who followed, was pounded for three more hits.

"Pop" Haines Misses Again

Jesse "Pop" Haines, trying for his 20th major league victory, which has eluded him since July 12, went out just too soon to get credit for the victory, which went to Bill Walker.

The Giants, although somewhat shaky at times, outlasted the Reds to win 6 to 4, principally because Carl Hubbell had control and the Cincinnati pitchers didn't. Hubbell, winning his 20th victory of the season, gave up 12 hits, one more than his mates made.

Pittsburgh and Brooklyn had an open date, leaving the Pirates 8½ games behind the Cards while heavy rains in the east washed out the entire five-game program of the American League, which was scheduled to open its final intersectional series in the east.

Yesterday's STARS

AUGIE GALAN, Cubs—Drove in six runs in victory over Phillips, hitting two home runs, one with bases full.

JIM COLLINS, Cardinals, and WALLY BERGER, Braves—Collins rapped double and two singles; Berger hit 30th homer, taking National league lead.

DICK BARTLELL, Giants—Led attack on Reds with three hits.

meet Mansfield in the five-game series.

League A Success

President Smith said he was highly gratified with the success of the league this year. The circuit was planned as a professional loop, but at the last minute the club owners decided to stay in the semi-pro field.

All the starting teams finished the season, and most of the clubs made money, according to the loop president. Termining this year's campaign an "experiment that proved successful," Smith said franchises would be awarded eight of the 10 interested cities next season, and that the league will function as a class "C" or "D" organization.

HERE IS A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY!

Fine farm of 66 1/2 acres. This farm adjoins the village of Damascus and is one of the finest locations everywhere, for the reason that you have bus service, street-car service, free school service and a gas well which pays $150 per year and also free gas in the house which is piped into several nice brick fireplaces. This is a large house of 12 rooms very suitable for two families, or could be used for a convalescent home or would work out very well for tourists as several cabins could be built on the property. There is a wonderful spring and water could be piped to each cabin. Abundance of fine shrubbery, a variety of all kinds of good fruit. Has a large barn that can be 20 head of cattle. So keep in mind that this is not only a farm, but a real home and no expense for fuel, besides an income of $150 per year.

POLLY AND HER PALS—

Modern Cowboys May Ride In Pursuit Of Cattle Thieves Now Roaming Ohio

(By Associated Press)
Xenia, Sept. 5.—Thrills of cattle rustling days, with cowboys riding pell-mell in pursuit of cow thieves, may be re-enacted in modern style in Southern Ohio.

Beet with the life of livestock, farmers are discussing methods for combating the evil. Suggestions for nightly patrols of rural roads by motorized vigilante committees, have received serious consideration. The groups would be similar to those organized in Iowa and Minnesota.

The modern livestock thief operates in a manner far removed from his ancestor of the western plains. He drives a big truck up to a field, herds a group of cattle or pigs into it, and speeds away in the night. He need not drive the herd at top speed across miles of open prairie to a secret corral. Since Ohio cattle are unbranded, it is almost impossible to trail stolen cows and steers. Once they reach the livestock market—and the thieves usually head directly for a market center—there is little chance of recovering the cattle. Mounting prices for beef and pork have worked to increase livestock thefts. Only recently, a farmer near Cedarville lost 52 head of registered Hampshire hogs. This theft, one of the largest on record in Greene county, brought agitation for reorganization of the Cedarville Protective association, an organization that did excellent work some years ago in running down thefts of livestock and other farm property.

Here and There About Town

Truck Driver Uninjured
Luckily for George Webber of Cleveland, he had delivered his load of pigs.

Returning toward Cleveland on Route 14 just four miles northwest of Salem, Webber, driving a baggage company truck, ran off the road and overturned when fog obscured his vision. The truck was only slightly damaged and Webber escaped injury, the highway patrol reported.

Hospital Notes
Robert Somerville of East Third st. had his tonsils removed this morning at the Salem City hospital.

Attacked And Robbed
Dick Connor of Salem suffered a cut on the head and the loss of his pocketbook containing $2 and a truck driver's license when he was slugged over the head by an assailant on Mill st., at 2 a. m. today. Connor told police that the blow knocked him senseless.

Extinguish Tree Blaze
With the fire fighting business on the decline in Salem at present, firemen yesterday found a little action in extinguishing a blaze in a dead apple tree on West Pershing street. Boys playing near the tree had set it afire.

Recent Birth
A son was born at 7:20 a. m. today to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greene, Buckeye ave. He has been named William Howard.

736 Persons Saved From Second Liner

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Two other ships today took 736 holiday passengers off the Doric, "Cupid's Ship" of the Cunard-White Star line, after its collision with the French freighter, Formigny, 70 miles off the coast of Portugal. Wireless messages said the Orion of the Orient line had taken off 400 passengers and the Viceroy of India, the remainder. The sea was reported calm and the rescue accomplished without difficulty.

LEAGUE HEARS BLOCKADE PLAN

Meanwhile Italy Considers Ethiopia Out Of Circle

(By Associated Press)
Indications that the International Federation of Trades Unions, through its executive committee, might take up the possibility of blocking an Italo-Ethiopian war were seen at Geneva.

Just what the relationship of Italy and Ethiopia may be in the league of nations caused anxiety in Geneva.

Italy Blocks Ethiopia
Italy has indicated she will not remain in the league on a basis of equal footing with Ethiopia, whom she accuses of being outside the pale of civilization. The Ethiopians, on the other hand, accuse Italy of unwillingness to follow civilized procedure.

A spokesman in Rome said Premier Mussolini would carry through his program in East Africa "with the league, without the league, or against the league."

Emperor Haile Selassie was regarded as hopeful that Pope Pius would intercede with Italy on the behalf of peace.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin called a "war cabinet" session in London. The ministers of the military arms of Great Britain and of the Exchequer were summoned to consider the British relationship to the present international situation.

In the league itself, proceedings were halted while statesmen reviewed the mass of material flowing from yesterday's council meeting. The Italian delegates seemed pleased by the delay and one of them said: "We want to give the world time to understand our position. We are in no hurry."

Two Killed As Auto Skids Off Highway

MANSFIELD, Sept. 5.—Sheriff E. P. Long said today two Mt. Vernon men were killed and another injured when their car skidded off Route 13 south of Belleville. The dead are Clarence Nixon, 21, and Elmer Whitehead, 25. Eugene Gordon, 18, was taken to a Mt. Vernon hospital. The sheriff said the accident occurred as the trio was returning home from Belleville, about 2:30 a. m.

Today

A Review of the Day's News

—By Arthur Brisbane—

MUSSOLINI FOUGHT in the big war as a simple soldier in the trenches, was badly wounded, saw the horrors of war from the bottom.

Now in command, he will see war from the top. How will he manage it? Dispatches say he must do something in a "quick drive and make big gains," before the rainy season returns seven months hence.

Mussolini's driving power and efficiency that have transformed the fever breeding postwar families into homes for Italian families should need no "seven months" to produce results in Abyssinia. The thing to do is to concentrate on the "Conquering Lion of Judah," otherwise the Negus or "Power of Trinity."

IN THE PAST kings and emperors could stay carefully, safely from the fight, sending other men. "My Last Moujik," as the late Czar of Russia put it, to fight for them. That time is past. Planes, gas and bombs will carry war to the Royal Palace.

Mussolini's airplanes will concentrate on the probable residence of Ethiopia's "Conquering Lion," and the "Power of Trinity" will soon become tired of war and tired of Mussolini.

MAKE IT CLEAR that modern war means "the ruler of the country first, the little people afterward." War will not last long. The "Conquering Lion" has expressed willingness, almost eagerness, to die for his country, but that must not be taken to literally.

NEAR BURBANK, CAL., a plane crashes. Three occupants, two pilots and a stewardess, burn to death after striking a live wire.

It has been said "alcohol and gasoline do not mix well," meaning that men should not drive when drunk.

Airfields and live wires do not mix well, either. The Department of Commerce, ruling aviation and exercising admirable rules, might include among the latter a rule against exposed live wires near airfields. The airfield should be moved, or the live wire put underground, or at places where planes rise or land. Secretary Daniel C. Roper, of the Department of Commerce, will attend to that if the law will let him. Life is quite full of a number of things without making the airplane passenger wonder about live wires in his path.

THERE IS an unnecessary fuss about American business men having secured in Abyssinia rights to develop oil and mineral wealth. An American should be able to go shopping, at his own risk and on his own responsibility, wherever he chooses as Englishmen do, without having the State Department indulge in "fits."

One of the great American organizations, Standard Oil, du Pont, or another, undertakes to do business in Ethiopia, it will not ask Uncle Sam to send over any of "Our Boys" to shed their blood.

BIG INDUSTRIAL institutions have a better way. They hire natives, pay them well, establish hospitals, cut down the death rate, build schools and they keep their contracts.

If Standard Oil or du Pont went to Abyssinia, hiring natives, paying them regularly, supplying them with shoes, which the Ethiopian prime minister himself has never worn, at least half the population would say to Mussolini:

"Take our so-called 'liberty,' if you choose, and our Negus, about whom we know little, but please don't disturb those Americans that pay regular wages."

STRANGE SIGHT in a New York court, one boy, nine years old, accused of killing a girl by hitting her on the head with a stone, because she denied his assertion that he could eat more peaches than she could. Another little boy of 12, also killer of a playmate, appeared in the same court.

The nine-year-old boy seemed quite unconcerned except that he thought his dog "Lucky" would be lonesome without him.

Prosecuting authorities accuse the nine-year-old boy of murder, but hanging or drawing and quartering for children are part of the past.

Will strip-teasers and eugenists explain these youthful crime phenomena?

THE DEPARTMENT of Commerce believes that the loss of Will Rogers and Wiley Post was caused by "ice in the carburetor." In a plane properly constructed, that would have been of little importance.

In a recent flight across the continent, the pilot remarked, when 12,000 feet up:

"Ice is gathering around my carburetor."

Then casually he turned a little contrivance that supplied the carburetor with plenty of heat from the exhaust, and melted the ice.

ON THE Great Salt Desert, about which you have read, an immense expanse of smooth salt just west of the Great Salt Lake, Sir Malcolm Campbell accomplished his plan to drive an automobile 300 miles an hour. He sent his powerful automobile, "Bluebird," once at a speed of 299.875 miles per hour, and again at a speed of 304 miles.

The achievement is important as showing what gas engines CAN do, and what railroads MAY do, when they learn to use their rights of way with light equipment.

As regards automobile manufacture, the speed is of no consequence since it could not possibly be used.
